13. Any person applying for payment in respect of cormorants, turtles, or tortoises shall produce and hand to some authorised person the heads of such cormorants, turtles, or tortoises, and shall make a declaration before such authorised person, or before a Justice of the Peace, in the form or to the effect set forth in the Third Schedule hereto.

14. Every authorised person shall, on the receipt of the heads of cormorants, turtles, or tortoises, sign a certificate in the form in the Fourth Schedule, and shall forthwith forward such certificate, and the declaration of the person applying for head money, to the Minister.

15. The Minister or Treasurer shall not be liable to pay any further amount for cormorants, turtles, or tortoises, than the amount which shall for the time being be standing to the credit of moneys paid as licence fees.

PART V.

MISCELLANEOUS.

16. No person shall keep, consign, sell, or offer for sale any fish of less than the prescribed weight.

17. If in any water any natural or artificial obstruction prevents the free passage of any fish, the Minister may remove the obstruction and secure a free passage of the fish.

18. All fish taken, bought, sold, or consigned, and all devices used or intended to be used contrary to this Act, shall be forfeited to His Majesty, and shall be disposed of as the Minister may direct. The proceeds of any sale under this section shall be paid to General Revenue.

19. If more than one-tenth of the fish contained in any receptacle are under weight, the receptacle may be seized and, together with the whole of the fish therein, forfeited.

20. Every Inspector and police constable, without any authority other than this Act, may seize any fish or device which he may have reason to believe is forfeited or liable to forfeiture.

21. A Proclamation declaring any device to be illegal shall not have any effect until the expiration of six months from the date thereof.

22. Nothing in this Act shall apply to any person using a rod and line, or hand-line, or a landing-net to secure fish taken with a rod rod and line or hand-line or a hand crab-net, nor to any device used solely for catching eels or congolly, nor to any person using a hand shrimp-net, nor to any aboriginal native taking fish for his own use, nor to any person taking fish solely for bait, nor to any person taking fish in water of which he is the owner, nor to any person authorised by such owner to take fish in such water, nor to any person with the written permission of the Minister catching fish for the bonâ fide purpose of removing them to stock other water, or otherwise in the discretion of the Minister, nor to any device or boat used or fish taken by such last-mentioned person for the purpose aforesaid: Provided that fish caught by any method mentioned in this section (crab-nets excepted) shall not be sold or bartered.

23. If any person having unintentionally taken any fish contrary to the provisions of this Act shall immediately return the same to the water with as little injury as possible to the fish, such person shall not be liable to any penalty under this Act.

PART VI.
