JANUARY MEETINGS OF THE ASSOCIATION

During the ANZAAS Congress held in Canberra the Association met on several occasions, the first meetings of members since the 'foundation' gatherings in Perth of August 1973. These meetings included a business meeting, which extended over two sessions, a series of papers on Pacific and Melanesian prehistory, film screenings and a social evening, as well as the forum discussion on 'The State, People, and Archaeologists'. This last, an important exchange of views vital to all concerned with archaeological work in Australia and its findings, is reported separately in this issue of the Newsletter. At the business meetings the main concerns were with the development of the Association, and questions arising from its proposed constitution. It was decided to form two committees to investigate these problems further and report back to members, the one to concern itself with the constitution of the Association, the other with the code of ethics for members envisaged in the draft constitution presented at the meeting. Members of these committees are:

Constitution Committee:
- Professor J. Golson
- Mr W. Ambrose
- Dr I. McBryde

Ethics Committee:
- Miss A. Bickford
- Miss S. Sullivan
- Dr J.P. White

The reports from these committees will be circulated to members when their discussions are completed.
