Private Act.

An Act to extend the powers of the Trustees under the Marriage Settlement of Edward Stirling, Esquire, and Harriett his wife, and to provide for the better management of the Trust Estate.

[Assented to, 27th January, 1858.]

WHEREAS by a certain indenture bearing date the third day of August, one thousand eight hundred and forty-seven, and made between Edward Stirling, of Hampden, in the District of Strathalbyn, in the Province of South Australia, Esquire, of the first part, and Harriett Taylor, of North Adelaide (youngest daughter of the late John Taylor, of Ryelands, Herefordshire, Esquire), spinster, of the second part, and Andrew Murray, of Rundle-street, Adelaide, in the said Province, Printer, Alexander Lang Elder, of Hindley-street, Adelaide, aforesaid, merchant, John Taylor, of North Adelaide, in the said Province, stockholder, and Charles Stirling, of Hampden, aforesaid, stockholder, of the third part (being the settlement made previous to, and in contemplation of, the marriage which was shortly afterwards had and solemnized between the said Edward Stirling and the said Harriett Taylor), certain freehold Sections of land situate in the said Province were conveyed and assured by the said Edward Stirling unto the said Andrew Murray, Alexander Lang Elder, John Taylor, and Charles Stirling, their heirs and assigns, upon certain trusts for the benefit of the said Harriett Taylor (now Harriett Stirling, the wife of the said Edward Stirling), and the children of the said marriage, which trusts are in the said indenture of settlement particularly mentioned and set forth: And whereas the said indenture of settlement does not contain any power of sale of the said trust estate in the lifetime of the tenant for life, and several other powers and authorities which are usually inserted in settlements of real estates, and which are necessary for the due management of the said trust estate, and the execution of the trusts of the said indenture of settlement are omitted therein, and by reason of such omission the said Trustees are unable to deal with and manage the said trust estate to the best advantage: And whereas the grant of powers authorizing the Trustees of the said trust estate, from time to time, to make sale of and exchange the trust estate, and, from time to time, to lay out the moneys to arise by any such sale or exchange in the purchase of freehold lands, or (with the consent of the party or parties for the time being beneficially interested) on Government or real securities at interest, to grant rights of road, and if thought fit, to dedicate roads to the public, to lay out any part or parts of the trust estate as a township or townships, to grant leases with rights of pre-emption, to accept surrenders of leases, and to re-let, to expend moneys in repairs and improvements, to make abatements and allowances to tenants, to appoint new Trustees in case of vacancy, and to sign receipts for money, would greatly enhance the value of the said trust estate, and it is expedient and just that the Trustees of the said indenture of settlement should be invested with such power as aforesaid; but such powers cannot be conferred on the said Trustees except by Legislative Enactment: And whereas the said Edward Stirling and Harriett Stirling, his wife, are desirous that such powers as are hereinafter given to and conferred upon the Trustees of the said marriage settlement should be so given and conferred: Be it therefore Enacted, by the Governor-in-Chief of the Province, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly of the Province of South Australia, in this present Parliament assembled, as follows, that is to say—
