

Archived at the Flinders Academic Commons:
<http://hdl.handle.net/2328/27231>

This is a scan of a document number DUN/Speeches/0088 in the Dunstan Collection, Special Collections, Flinders University Library.
<http://www.flinders.edu.au/library/info/collections/special/dunstan/>

Title:
Foreword - South Australia

Please acknowledge the source as:
Dunstan Collection, Flinders University Library.
Identifier: DUN/Speeches/0088

© Copyright Estate Donald Allan Dunstan

SOUTH AUSTRALIA -BY THE PREMIER, DON DUNSTAN.

I think South Australia is not only one of the finest places in the world in which to live and work - it's one of the most exciting.

We've grown from a largely rural State into one of Australia's major industrial complexes.

We still have room to breathe.

Adelaide has grown into the most attractive of all the Australian capitals.

And - to prevent it becoming too big - we are embarking on the most challenging planning concept since the founding of Canberra, the creation of a new city in the Murray Bridge area.

We are pressing ahead with - and already getting great success from - plans to get new industrial developments in South Australia and so provide more jobs and great prosperity for its citizens.

South Australia is already - through the Adelaide Festival - a principal cultural centre.

Developments now underway will ensure that this lead is maintained and that we become a "must" on the travel plans of interstate and overseas tourists.

In short, I think we are a thriving, energetic community with a sound record of achievement. And the promise for the future is even more enticing.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA -

BY THE PREMIER, DON DUNSTAN.

I think South Australia is not only one of the finest places in the world in which to live and work - it's one of the most exciting.

We've grown from a largely rural State into one of Australia's major industrial complexes.

We still have room to breathe.

Adelaide has grown into the most attractive of all the Australian capitals.

And - to prevent it becoming too big - we are embarking on the most challenging planning concept since the founding of Canberra, the creation of a new city in the Murray Bridge area.

We are pressing ahead with - and already getting great success from - plans to get new industrial developments in South Australia and so provide more jobs and great prosperity for its citizens.

South Australia is already - through the Adelaide Festival - a principal cultural centre.

Developments now underway will ensure that this lead is maintained and that we become a "must" on the travel plans of interstate and overseas tourists.

In short, I think we are a thriving, energetic community with a sound record of achievement. And the promise for the future is even more enticing.