MESSAGE FROM THE PREMIER (FOR MESSENGER PRESS)

PROSPECT CENTENARY

As one of the first parts of South Australia to be settled, Prospect has long been noted for its distinctive sense of community.

This is still true today.

One of the reasons for this is that the area has, too, history of well-administered far sighted local Government.

The vision of earlier Councils in the provision they made for adequate public amenities for future generations applies also to the present City Council.

I extend my best wishes to the Mayor, Council, and residents, particularly Miss Nalty, and Jack Jennings, of Prospect on the very happy occasion of the city's centenary.
