PRESS RELEASE FROM THE PREMIER, MR. DUNSTAN.

PARLIAMENTARY SALARIES TRIBUNAL.

9.1.75.

Executive Council today appointed Adelaide barrister Mr. L.J. Elliot, Q.C., Chairman of the Parliamentary Salaries Tribunal.

The Chairman of the Public Service Board, Mr. G.J. Inns, was also appointed as a member of the Tribunal which determines the pay and allowances of State parliamentarians.

The third of the three members is Mr. G.H.P. Jeffery, former Auditor-General.

The Premier, Mr. Dunstan, said Mr. Elliot was a distinguished lawyer and was entirely independent of the Government.

Mr. Inns was deeply involved and widely experienced in matters of wage and salary determination and had been closely associated with the Government's policy of restraint in this area.

Mr. Elliot and the other members of the Tribunal will decide when to begin hearings.

But Mr. Dunstan said he was taking this opportunity to define the Government's approach to future hearings.

He noted that the previous determination was originally meant as an interim one and that the Tribunal was scheduled to reconvene in the first half of last year.

The Government did not go ahead with the appointment of the Tribunal during the period that it was seeking to achieve a policy of wage indexation limited to 1½ times average weekly earnings. It had not been possible to achieve this.

In view of this, the continuing effects of inflation and recent pay increases in other areas, it was considered unfair that M.P.'s alone should continue to have their salaries frozen.

The Premier said South Australian parliamentarians were now the lowest paid in the nation.

Mr. Dunstan said that when the Tribunal did meet there would be no submission made to it by any Labor parliamentarians.

It was felt that this was not an appropriate approach and, indeed, created a misleading impression in the community.

Instead, the Tribunal would be provided with Counsel to assist it. This would be an experienced, independent industrial lawyer who would seek and prepare evidence for the Tribunal at its direction.

The Premier added he hoped the Tribunal would take note of the Government's policy of tapered rather than across the board pay increases as demonstrated in today's announcement of senior public service salaries.
