PADDO PLUS
(For sister Maggie)

1
Rather like a human rabbit warren for a hundred years or so, it became real estate like many a convict ancestor made good and gentrified, meaning no longer pork-pied

2
Labyrinthine ‘Street Plan’, a contradiction in terms, there are more ways than five to get to Five Ways, but once there there are enough options to allow you to be neglectful of time’s inevitable consequence and not care, no matter the ridiculous expense.

3
Or you could visit Maggie’s place (don’t raise your eyebrows, it’s neither a brothel nor a born-again-Christian residence thank god!).
But if civilized hedonism is a sin then I’d have to confess it’s a blessedly sinful place with no taint of disgrace.
When we had croissants for breakfast I wondered about the evolution of geometrical shapes and the alternative croissants I’ve seen: for example on nationalistic flags or sickle-shaped beaches; and the crescent moon in the velvet midnight sky which is almost the answer to my unanswered questions; to every mysterious Why?

It’s midwinter now but a clear clean light displays the calm colours of the terrace houses:
an effect like a flower arrangement to distill the essence of the fading hour while you live life to the full despite its clichés and its often rotten days.

Syd Harrex
19.7.05
GESTALT GAZING

Fasting or surfeiting? These unidentical twins dressed in irrepressible, neatly creased, waiters’ liveries ask with supplicating insistence. OK: just another slide-show entertainment, but this time … nightmarish … the projector stalls, the gramophone needle stuck, the frozen image a silent snow-flaking storm of arthritically entwined fingers and members; fists of entangled vines each to each never to be released from their rectangular gilt frame on that wall facing studio windows open to garden glimpses of sunfall glances that death’s mirror of illusion enhances.

Syd Harrex