Shards of Colour

How brown, the sound of a galley’s oars when black is the sound of water.
See how the green of an ancient grudge dares to ignite the red of a temper that flares, lighting the white sound of a man’s skull, cracked.

Jennifer Liston